

SEIP Executive Summit

The SEIP Executive Summit returns for its 2nd annual summit bringing together the environmental insurance industry's movers and shakers into one place at one time. SEIP Executive Summit is specifically devoted to environmental risk management and environmental insurance.

The Executive Summit is an opportunity to showcase your insurance products, new technologies, network, and increase market share to a room of highly motivated prospects. You will have the unique opportunity of meeting and educating the people directly in the insurance trenches who will sell your products and utilize your unique services.

What Is SEIP?

The Society of Environmental Insurance Professionals (SEIP) is a nonprofit 501(c)(3) educational organization established in 1999. SEIP is dedicated to helping its members utilize environmental insurance products to provide more valuable services to their customers. SEIP enhances the professional capabilities of its members through focused educational forums, technology enhanced knowledge management and providing access to specialized multi-disciplined resources in fields related to environmental insurance and environmental risk management

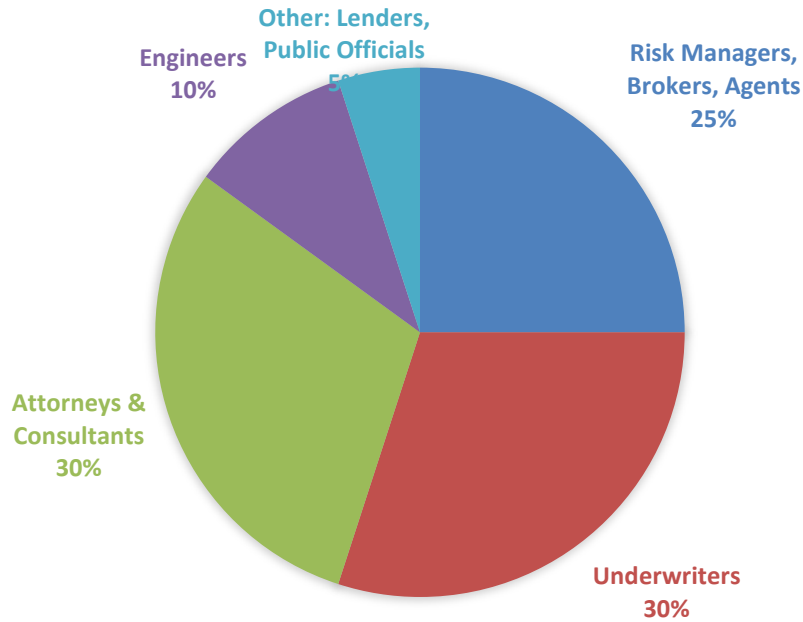

Event Purpose

The Society of Environmental Insurance Professionals annual events started because no educational or networking event brought together all of the stakeholders in environmental insurance. We decided the best way to solve this problem is to provide a venue that brings the stakeholders in environmental insurance into one place at one time.

We have come a long way from our widely successful conference in 2016, but we still need your support. Your generous contribution will help us extend our mission by expanding the use of environmental insurance as a risk management tool through education, technology, resources, innovation, and networking.
